

Field School 2017 to Buczacz

BuchachCommunity:

During the past summer, we returned to Galicia, to the Tarnopol region. The eighth annual delegation of the Jewish Galicia and Bukovina Organization began the work of documenting the ancient Jewish cemetery in Buczacz, S.Y. Agnon's home town. This cemetery holds a special place in those of Agnon's works devoted to his home town. It symbolizes the continuity of generations in the city and is an important component in the special Jewish space in which the plots of his many stories take place.

The current state of the cemetery is pitiful. The hilltop on which the Jewish residents of Buczacz buried their dead for hundreds of years, which rises above the city of Buczacz, is entirely covered by plants, thorns and impenetrable thickets. The entire space of the cemetery is filthy and neglected, and it is difficult to access the graves.

century as a result of battlesthIn addition, the cemetery suffered extensive damage during the 20 that took place in its vicinity during the First World War, and as a result of intentional desecration during the Holocaust. During the Soviet rule hundreds of headstones that had survived earlier destruction were taken from the cemetery and used as building materials. Despite all this, the Jewish cemetery of Buczacz is still one of the most important Jewish historical sites in Eastern Galicia.

In preparation for the arrival of the delegation extensive clearing and ground prep were undertaken. The group of 14 volunteers - students of the Herzog College and universities and graduates . Dr. Boristh through August 13th yeshivot - worked in Buczacz for two weeks, from July 30th hesder of Khaimovich, an expert on Jewish art, and Dr. Ilia Luria, a scholar of Eastern Europe from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, led the delegation. About 1,000 gravestones were discovered, cleaned, documented and photographs during the two weeks of work. At times, the gravestones needed to be turned over or dug under in order to reach the writing on them.

Most of the gravestones documented were from the 18 centuries. th 19

The delegation managed to document about half of the graves from the Buczacz graveyard. In addition, a precise mapping out of all of the documented gravestones was made. We plan to return to Buczacz next year and complete the documentation work.

The complete findings of the delegation will be deciphered, processed and made available on the Jewish Galicia and Bukovina Association's website in the near future.
